Dear Mr. Geller,
you demonstrated the SNIPER-STRAP for cameras to me. The SNIPER-STRAP fits very ergonomically to the body. The diagonal path of the strap enables the camera to be carried on the photographer's side, unlike other straps that suspend the camera in front of the wearer's chest or abdomen. This is much better for the back, because strain to the kyphosis is eliminated. The – elastic – shock absorber section of the strap acts as an excellent buffer. For all of these reasons the SUN-SNIPER is highly recommended from an orthopedic and sports medicine point of view for carrying heavy cameras.
